

My name is Adelino Sanjombe.

I am working for Save the Children for 14 years.

Working experience within Save the Children

I was porter for 1 year, guard for 4 years, Admin assistant for 2 years, project officer for 2 years, project manager for 3 years, national project manager 1 year and 3 months and now provincial coordinator for 8 months.

My role as provincial coordinator

I oversee the whole programme. I provide both technical and moral assistance to the teams. It is my role to ensure effective programming and meet our goals. As provincial coordinator, I have to ensure we follow the international guideline of working with and for children.

My daily routine

I seat with the team and help them to plan their activities. Then I set time to follow them up in the fields. In addition to that I also make sure they implement the projects according to the project proposal and meet children needs.

Daily routine In the community

Whenever I go in the community, I talk to the traditional leaders to get their feeling of the work that we do. I talk to the children and community members to get their feeling of our work as well. Based on the feed back I get from the field I seat with the team and address community concerns and give them my feed back of my observations. I always make sure what I tell my team is full of encouragement, open and realistic.
